reedshandmade This is kinda wild... just got an "orb" very similar to this, only 7' in diameter., and plan to turn it into a cool yard light... "great minds"... if you get a chance, check it out in my IG gallery.

adg_lights @reedshandmade nice 7 footer. We manufacture all of our product here in the west coast and ship to east coast all the time... fun orb. I always tell clients yard art is fun....Enjoy yours.

The image shows a close-up of an art installation. The background is a heavily rusted, textured metal surface. In the foreground, there are several horizontal, parallel metal bars. Overlaid on these bars are intricate, laser-cut metal details in a reddish-brown patina. These details feature complex, organic, and flame-like patterns with various cutouts and curves. The lighting highlights the texture of the rust and the precision of the cuts.

As an architect, with so much thought and careful attention applied to composing a custom home, it's a joy to work with Gerald on lighting fixtures that truly complement our architectural design.

Richard Krantz
AIA Architect

It was such a pleasure working with Gerald Olesker on the lighting ... He is a great listener and very effectively communicated his visions to enhance our... environment through lighting while staying within our tastes. (he) simplified an otherwise complicated process and masterfully handled everything from design through delivery.

Alexander Cappello
Homeowner

Gerald is a cross between Al Gore and Thomas Edison...

Larry Rothstein, ESQ

I have known Gerald for many years, his company is... (and) they are thought leaders when it comes to finding innovation in the field.

Lighting is an incredibly important element to architecture. I don't hesitate to call ADG for the highest quality surface mounted light fixtures that are both beautiful and functional. ADG is very innovative, expanding on our ideas or altering our direction as needed to derive the best product design.

Bill Hablinski of Hablinski Architects
Homes Published Architectural Digest

It was such a pleasure working with Gerald. During the concept phase, he created beautiful sketches to convey his design ideas. During the manufacturing phase, he found alternative materials to meet our budget. And, during and after the installation phase, he went out of his way to make sure the final pieces were just right.

Deirdre Wallace Hotelier the Ambrose Hotel

Larry Rothstein, ESQ
Stated Live at All Cities October 2009

...it looks beautiful !! The client (is) very happy with it !!... And I will definitely look forward to working with you again.
